YPSILANTI HIGH SCHOOL

YPSILANTI, MICHIGAN

1965

Each year the yearbook staff is confronted with the problem of finding an original theme for the annual. This year, because of the stress on Ypsilanti's Greek heritage and the emphasis on the establishment of the Greek Theatre, we thought it would be appropriate to utilize the Greek influence on Ypsilanti High. The title is in keeping with the theme in that we have used the Greek letters and the spelling for BRAVES. You will also notice the theme carried out on each of the divider pages.

Paul Chauvet, Ypsi High's new exchange student from Mexico City, Mexico, locates his native land for Ypsi students.

Paula Miller, Mr. Cox, Ann Bass, and Miss Wagstaff open the first Dime Dance of 1964.

Lawyer Stripp, Mr. Aldrich, and Tom Stobie pay reverence to the Flag on Veterans Day.

Ypsilanti High School Gets New Alma Mater

Ypsilanti High School Alma Mater
Barbara and Joyce Hamilton

THE PURPLE AND THE GOLD

Purple shadows of the night
All the world enfold.
Golden stars send forth their light
For the purple and the gold.
All hail, all hail to Ypsi High
Your honor we'll uphold.
We'll ne'er forget our memories of
The purple and the Gold.

The senior class, recognizing the need for an Alma Mater for Ypsilanti High School, sponsored a contest to encourage the students to compose their own Alma Mater. There were many entries, but the judges decided that the entry of two juniors, Joyce and Barb Hamilton, was the most appropriate for Ypsilanti High School.

Mr. Fry congratulates the Hamilton Twins on their superior entry and awards them the prize of $50.

Judy Becker, Alias Pinnochio, places in the Story Book Day competition.

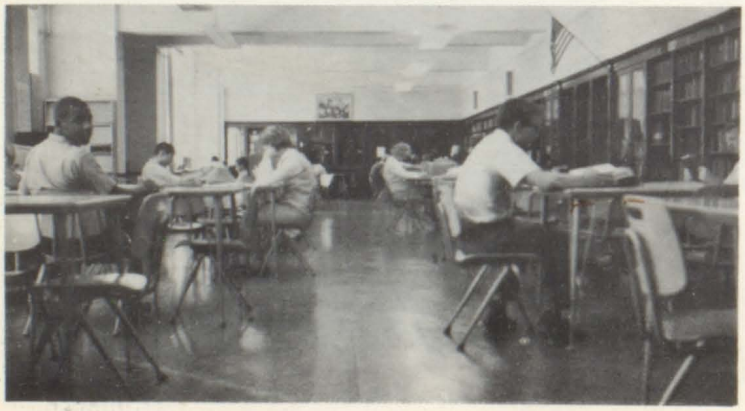

On any day but Story Book Day, Huck Finn, Mother Goose (1st place), and Raggedy Ann are Sari Howard, Pam Baltzell, and Andrea Larsen.

Shari Porter and Cathy Cain decorate the gym for the Sophomore Reception.

Sandy O'Key and Art Wilson suddenly become Arabs in Mrs. Laird's history class.

Students of Ypsi High often take advantage of the school library.

Tom Stobie greets students.

Ypsi High students collected 2,253 lbs. of canned food for the needy for Christmas.

J. Sanders, L. Cuthbert, J. Bishop, G. Geer, and S. Stanich, where did those feathers come from????

Mr. Hobbs, Martin Opem, and Jim Walters set Christmas spirit at YHS with their decorative candles.

Ypsi High's Homecoming Queen, Ann Bass.

Homecoming Princesses Carole McDonnell, Kathy Bassett, and Paula Miller.

Mr. Aldrich addresses parents at Open House.

Mr. Lounsberry, like most Ypsi High teachers, makes good use of his treasured coffee hour.

Mr. Bohn is constantly grading physics tests.

Many of our teachers are advisors of extracurricular activities. Here Miss Wagstaff has a committee meeting with Joan Bishop, Peggy Eller, and Joe Hoagbin.

Miss Mertaugh, Mr. Aldrich, and Mrs. Edwards enjoy the parties.

ADMINISRATION AND FACULTY

Dr. Paul H. Emerich, Superintendent

Board of Education

The Board of Education and superintendent are continually working for the improvement of educational facilities in our city. They are making plans for new schools to offset increased enrollment. Renovation of present school buildings to keep them in good condition is also being done.

The members of the Board of Education work long hours with no pay; their only reward is their satisfaction from knowing that students in Ypsilanti have the opportunity to get an even better education because of their efforts.

The school and community feel the loss of Mr. George B. Horning who passed away on March 17, 1965. Mr. Horning served as vice-president of the Board of Education from 1960-1961 and as president from 1961-1962. He served as a board member for six years. His desire was to improve the buildings as well as the instructional program for the students of the Ypsilanti School District.

BURTON R. ALDRICH, Principal

Mr. Aldrich has completed his second year as Ypsilanti High School principal. Under his leadership a revision is being made in the curriculum. This year each student was given a new handbook which gives important information regarding the information of the school.

HODLEY COX, Assistant Principal

Mr. Cox, our assistant principal, has been busy organizing the school schedule, encouraging improved attendance, and assisting in organizing the program of studies for students.

SENIORS

Class Officers: Gayle Ehrhart, secretary; Al DeOtte, president; Mari Lynn, treasurer; Betty Beaver, vice-president.

Since they started school probably every student hoped to become a senior. The years went slowly at first, but the last few years of school passed rapidly.

The class of 1965 is one that shall be remembered for many years for their enthusiasm and extraordinary school spirit.

The seniors won the float competition to start their year off with a bang. They held many fun nights and sponsored numerous worthwhile activities such as collecting food for the needy for Christmas and sponsoring the new Alma Mater. Yes, it has been a truly successful year and the seniors should be proud to be the Class of '65.

Mr. Waterman, class advisor, a man of whom the seniors have the utmost respect and the greatest appreciation.

Who'll ever forget those great class meetings?

Always happy, always gay, these girls were Homecoming queen finalists for a day.

Chuck wishes to express a point for the senior debaters.

Gayle and Mari Lynn are all ears as Mr. Waterman answers a question in a class meeting.

Were your eyes bigger than your stomach at the National Honor Society progressive dinner, Shari?

A stitch here, a stitch there add up to a lot of stitches for the Senior Class Play.

There's nothing more comfortable than a hearse, is there, John?

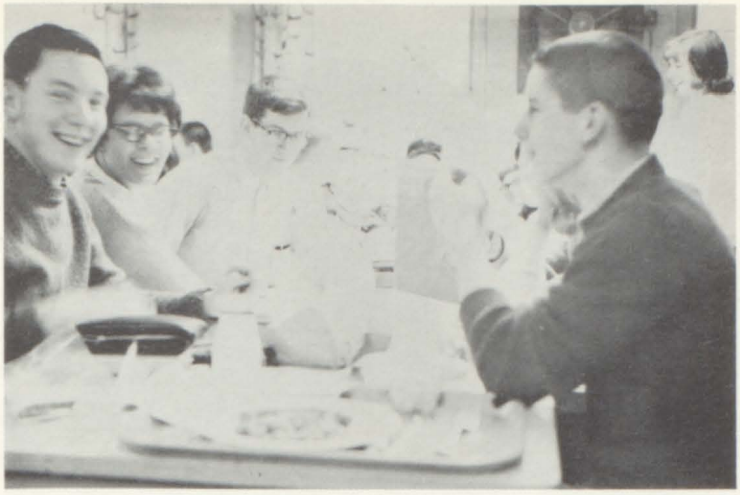

Sara Moore, Vivian Hall, Linda Allen, a junior, and Janet Hunter were contestants in the Miss Negro Progress contest.

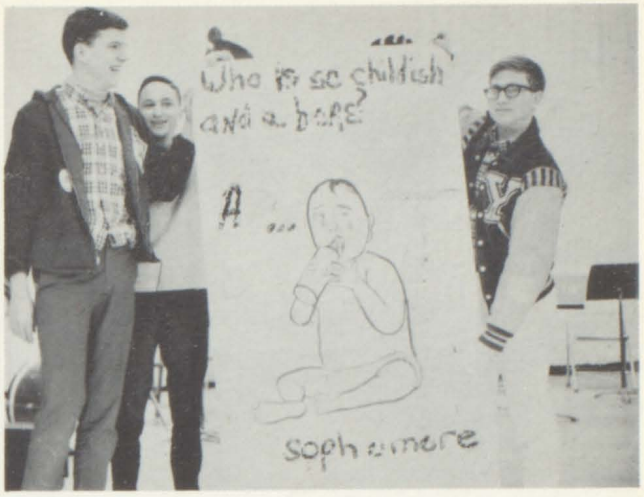

Vivian's just saying, Mmmm, is that ever good!

In rehearsing for the Senior Play, Chuck assures Tom and John that it won't hurt a bit.

Dave, Ann, John, and Richard laugh it up during the "sacred" lunch hour.

"Revenge is ours," said the seniors at a Pep Assembly.

F. T. A. members waited patiently as the initiation of new members took place.

They spent an active election day in 1964. First Row (l. to r.): Sandy O'Key, Shirley Joynson, Judy Piper. Second Row: Candy Beutell, Bev Brixey and Bev Herman.

Jack and Dave ask, "Monsters for a hobby, anyone?"

Nothing like puffing on a bread stick, is there Jim?

Donetta Lee, president of F.T.A., presides over proceedings at the initiation of new members.

The more mature side of our class, hey, Gary?

"It goes this way Barb," says Wanda at a fall dance.

"It must be time for the bell. We can't stand it another minute." Front (l. to r.): Val Eaglin, Gayle Taylor, Jenny Collins. Back: Ginger Arnett, Chuck Stribley and Candy Allison.

Linda Kowalski exhibits her proficiency as an office assistant as part of the Co-op program.

So this is how you fool all the teachers, Ann!

Bill's just saying, "Come to me," at an All-School Play rehearsal. L. to R.: Linda Roeske, John Wehr, Cyndy Hackney, a junior, and Bill Smith.

Just ask these girls how much time and work is required to put the yearbook together. Pictured are yearbook editor, Ann Treado; and assistant editors, Linda Penive, a junior, and Trudy Adams.

National Honor Society members demonstrate their intelligence and diligence in one of the honor study halls.

Linda Penive, Jane Kingston, Kathie Bassett, and Carole McDonnell are the semifinalists in the Homecoming queen competition for junior princesses.

Mike McKee and Carole McDonnell "play" with geiger counters in Mr. Hebrew's chemistry class.

President, Bill Reiman, faithfully leads the junior class through the 1964-65 school year.

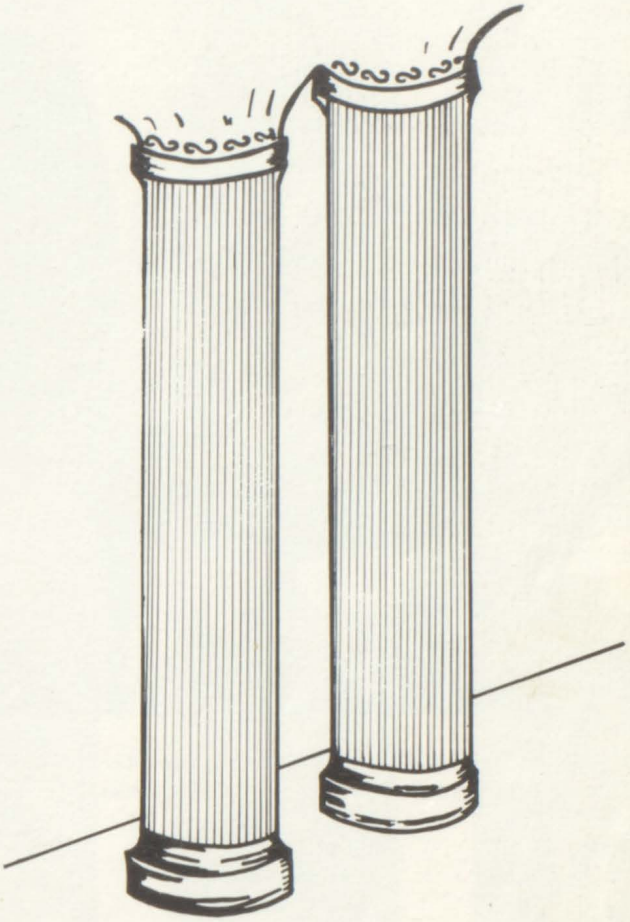

The junior class is mighty proud of their twin composers Barb and Joyce Hamilton.

The junior class can be proud of their neat float for the Homecoming Parade.

JUNIORS

Class Officers: Carole McDonnell, secretary; Mr. Hebrew, advisor; Sharon Porter, treasurer; Bill Reiman, president; and Sharon Eller, vice-president.

Under the responsible leadership of the junior class officers and junior board of directors, the class of 1966 has had a successful year. Class projects -- the Sophomore Reception, the Senior Farewell, and especially the J-Hop held the wholehearted, enthusiastic support of the class. With such a successful year behind them, the class of '66 can look forward to a prosperous senior year. They are doing their part to make Ypsi High a better school which they show through support of activities, sports, and school functions. The sophomores of yesterday, the juniors of today, and the seniors of tomorrow are setting examples for the classes that will follow.

The class of 1967 sponsors an assembly to introduce themselves to the student body.

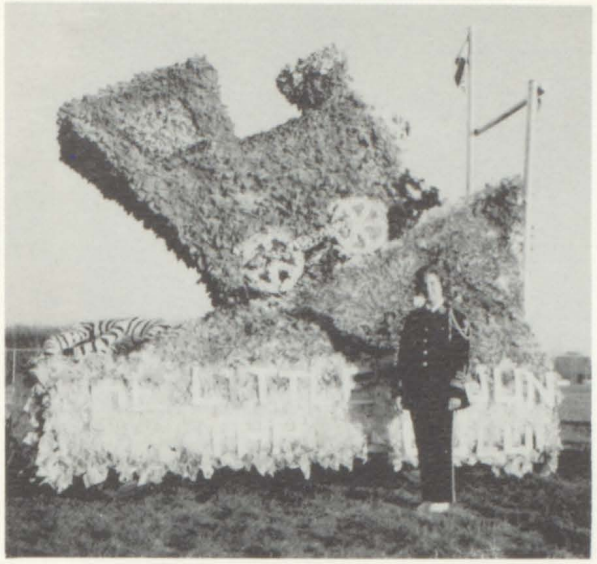

Lois Rogers, Shirley Robinson, and Sue Morgon, begin work on their home economics project.

The strangest things show up at sophomore assemblies.

Class officers Peggy Oltersdorf, Sandy Smith, Ron Sherrod, and Carol Clark meet to plan their activities for 1964-65.

Secretary Carol Clark is mighty proud of the sophomore float which took second place in the float competition.

Diane Perotti, Sharon McGinley, Gail Stenning, and Jessica Smith, eagerly awaited Homecoming.

Mercury

SOPHOMORES

Class Officers: Peggy Oltersdorf, vice-president; Ron Sherrod, president; Sandi Smith, treasurer; Mr. Eckenrod, advisor; and Carol Clark, secretary.

Once again the sophomore class is the largest class to enter the doors of Ypsi High. After the first confusing weeks, the sophomores began the year with the class elections, the sophomore assembly and the Sophomore Reception.

They also started off well showing school spirit. Pep assemblies and games found sophomores taking an active part. This participation in the various events helped to build a strong sense of school spirit this year.

The sophomores have come a long way since September of 1964 and they should feel proud of their class. Two more years of this fine show in work and activities will produce a graduating class of 1967 of which Ypsi High can be justly proud.

Pat Matevia, Bill Parsons, and Candi Beutell prove that acting is not the sole facet of play production.

National Honor Society members, Lyle Marushak, Ann Treado, and Mary Deming serve refreshments at Open House.

CLUBS AND ACTIVITIES

Latin Club members and guests enjoy their annual banquet.

Many industrious seniors decorate for the Sophomore Reception.

The more active members of the French Club work busily to plan French Day.

Members of the French Club worked hard to make "French Day" a success.

Although not a chartered organization, the "Mufu's" have added quite a lot of spirit to the senior class.

Student Council

Barb and Joyce Hamilton seem to enjoy running the ice cream machine.

"Swingin' Sweeny" made an appearance at the Christmas Dance.

The past year has been a busy year for the Student Council. Members were engaged in countless projects, including the revision of the constitution. The Student Council also sponsored busses to the out-of-town basketball games, ran the soft freeze machine, and sponsored the "lollipop" drive to raise money for the Polio Drive.

Ann Treado, Mary Deming, and Mrs. Laird, the new advisor, are counting the money from the sale of the N. H. S. notebooks.

The National Honor Society is an honorary association whose members are chosen and installed during the spring of their junior year. They are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Members were kept busy this year selling notebooks, and handling the programs for the sports events. Other social and service events included serving at the school open house, sponsoring a dime dance, a community service project, and listening to speakers during night meetings.

The Yearbook Staff Worked

Business manager, Bill Smith; assistant editors, Trudy Adams and Linda Penive; and advertising manager, Richard Baldwin, plan this year's annual while editor in chief, Ann Treado, supervises.

The 1965 yearbook staff has worked very hard this year to give the students of Ypsi High a good, interesting yearbook. They have met every deadline on time so as to guarantee the students their yearbook by the first week in June.

Advertising manager, Richard Baldwin, and editor, Ann Treado, worked hard to make the yearbook a success.

Faculty editors, D. Fidler, D. Edwards, and K. Sunday, start work on the faculty pages.

Hard to Meet Its Deadlines

Senior editors, C. Geer, L. Roeske, J. Bishop, V. Brose, and M. Deming, worked hard to get the senior section finished.

Junior editors, K. Bassett, B. Hamilton, C. Katon, and R. Lund, seemed to enjoy their work.

Sophomore editors, B. Lindner, J. Fitzharris, and P. Fidler work to identify the sophomores.

Activities and clubs editors, E. Sipe, J. Hamilton, and C. Clark, take a look at the list of new clubs.

Art editor, G. Sobran, and music editor, L. Elwell both did a fine job on their assignments.

Proofreaders, S. Geer, S. Sheldon, and K. Frost, have started to proofread the book.

This year proved to be one of the busiest and most active years in the Future Teachers Club. At the installation, new members, this year's officers, and the new advisor, Mrs. Kloosterman, were installed. Seventeen members participated in the cadet teaching program in four Ypsilanti area schools. Among various activities carried out were a "male membership drive," a dime dance, service at school teas, participation in an Ann Arbor F. T. A. dinner, a coffee break for teachers during the exam break, and having various people speak at meetings on the teaching profession.

At the F. T. A. Initiation, Mrs. Mooar addresses new members and new officers.

BOYS' SPORTS

Varsity Football

This year's football team had an adverse season. Although many of the key players were sidelined with injuries, the team made good contests of their games. The team had some outstanding players who were selected to the league team. Co-captain Fraizer Byrd was selected to the first team as an offensive guard. Pierre Gillenwater and Al Kelly were named to the second defensive team. There were thirteen seniors on the '64 team and the coaches hope that the reserves will be able to fill the vacancies.

The reserve team put in many long hours of practice at the island this year. Six of the reserve squad went up to the varsity to earn varsity monograms. They did win one game, against Melvindale, at Shadford Field. The coaches also feel that many of the boys will climb to the varisty squad next year. The main purpose of the reserve team is to teach the boys Ypsi's style of football, and to provide them with game experience.

Reserve football coaches: Mr. May and Mr. Kielwasser.

Co-captains, Rufus Stewert and Dave Larsen.

Cross-Country

This year's cross-country team had a fair record winning four and losing five. The team was led by Tony Gillium and Rufus Stewart. An injury early in the season to co-captain Dave Larson handicapped the team considerably. Coach Simpson and the boys had many long hours of practice during the season.

Swimming

The swimming team had a better than usual season this year. The '65 team won five swimming meets, more than the combined wins of the last three years. Five varsity and one pool records were broken. George Sayre set records in the 50 and 100-yard freestyles, John Wehr in the 100-yard breaststroke, and the medley relay team of Marvin Baltzell, Wehr, Richard Klein, and Doug Peterson. The most coveted record was set in the freestyle relay by Peterson, Jeff Huxley, Roger Buxton, and Sayre; this was a pool record in a time of 1:37.0. Coach Tackmann did a great deal to improve this year's team record.

Wrestling

The wrestling team had a fine season this year winning the Pontiac Quad, Garden City Invitational, League, and Regional titles. The team was led by senior captain Vince Heatlie, Dan Harvey, Rufus Stewart, Dave Johnson, and Dale Utly. In the state meet Ypsi was standing well until a very unfortunate knee injury sidelined Vince Heatlie. Dan Harvey was the only one to make the state finals, he finished second on a very disputed call. Mr. Waterman again did a great job in shaping our team.

This years' baseball team is off to another good season. In their first two outings they defeated Ann Arbor, St. Thomas and a strong Belleville team. The team has well-balanced hitting, pitching, and fielding which should make our Braves one of the strongest teams ever.

Reserve Baseball

The reserve baseball team is largely composed of sophomores who are eager for an opportunity to improve themselves in this popular sport. As they develop skill which will be used on future varsity teams, the reserves under the direction of Coach Kielwasser are determined to uphold the tradition of fine baseball in Ypsilanti High School. These boys have certainly gotten off to a great start this year and are providing tough competition for the opposing teams.

Always smiling and never losing their pep, this year's cheerleaders, with advisor, Mrs. Judy Ware, and co-captains, Kathie Bassett and Linda Penive, led the student body through a year of more spirit than YHS has seen for many years.

The reserve cheerleaders, led by Sue Cain, assured support all the way for the reserve teams.

Volleyball practice boosts feminine physical fitness.

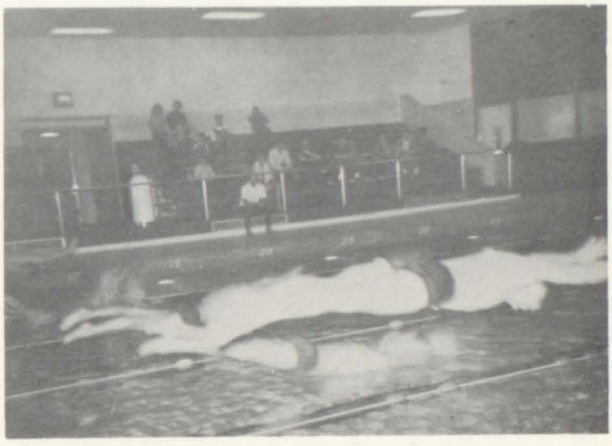

The girls in GAA had an exciting year as they moved quickly from one sport to another. Volleyball, basketball, and swimming all encouraged good sportsmanship as the girls worked hard to perform well for their class.

Once again the GAA girls pleased the spectators in the basketball games with their welcomed refreshments.

One of the new activities this year is the sponsoring of bowling teams for any interested girls.

Girls, that's no way to get the net put up.

They're off! But where are all the fans?

These noble fellows led our Cross-Country team this year.

The members of the A Cappella spend many hours preparing their concerts and festival.

Mr. Pearson spends most of his day in front of his piano and consequently his pet peeve is a piano that is out of tune.

Hey, fellas, don't you think a little Mozart would sound nice?

This lively group greatly boosted the spirit of Ypsi High students at pep assemblies and games.

Mr. Pearson and student leader, Richard Baldwin direct a dance band rehearsal.

Oblivious of its two sober seniors, Phil Crane and Chuck Geer, the band rehearses for its Christmas Concert.

MUSIC

Singing, singing, and more singing was in store for this year's A Cappella Choir members. With the guidance of Mr. Pearson, the choir gave very worthwhile performances. Among the events were the Christmas Assembly, a part of the YHS Winter Band Concert, and their annual spring concert.

To add to their year and to make it complete, the choir participated in the District Choir Festival in Plymouth. They were well awarded by receiving the superior rating of three I's.

Mr. Pearson and the choir members deserve to be complimented on their commendable season.

Band

Spirited YHS football fans were entertained again this year by the usual outstanding pre-game and half-time shows put on by the YHS Marching Band under the direction of Mr. Seidler. Band members spent many vigorous hours at Island Park to work up their performances for the U. of M. Band Day and the Detroit Lions' game.

Concert season found the band members still hustling about to prepare for the Christmas Assembly, three concerts, and the Band and Orchestra Festival.

Although band members often were heard complaining, they were well awarded with the annual thrilling dance, the Military Ball.

Girls' Drum and Bugle Corps

The 1964-65 Girls' Drum and Bugle Corps experienced another successful year. Spirit of the basketball fans was greatly encouraged by the pep band's peppy music.
